

Meet AHA — say it AH-ha

SirReel's automated After Hours Assistant. It answers texts at (747) 335-1665, any hour of the night.

1 Text it a fleet question

- ◆ “Who's on Cube 27?” → the job, the dates, the driver's name and cell, the delivery address
- ◆ “Has Lunch Rush come back?” → still out, or every unit checked in
- ◆ “What's on SR-JOB-0231?” → units, dates, contacts and their numbers
- ◆ Works from your phone, no login. Your mobile has to be on your HQ user record first — set it on /admin/assistant under Mobile

2 It takes the 2am calls for you

- ◆ A driver locked out at the gate texts AHA instead of calling you
- ◆ AHA checks them against the job, then gives the gate code and that truck's lockbox code
- ◆ It only opens a truck on a live job, and only for a number or name already on that job
- ◆ Every release is logged and emailed to the team, with who got it

3 Three things fleet has to keep current

- ◆ Lockbox code on every truck. Fleet page, vehicle summary panel. No code on file means AHA can't release it — the driver is stuck and the team gets an email saying so
- ◆ The gate code. /admin/assistant. If it's wrong, nobody gets in
- ◆ Driver cell numbers on the job. That's how AHA knows a driver is really theirs

4 When it can't help

- ◆ Driver at one of our trucks that AHA can't verify → it texts on-call their name and number, and releases nothing
- ◆ A real emergency → it texts on-call and gives the caller their direct numbers
- ◆ The office line (888) 477-7335 is business hours only. AHA is the after-hours front door

5 It will never

- ◆ Give out a code for a job that's wrapped, cancelled, or not running today
- ◆ Quote pricing or availability
- ◆ Pretend to be a person — it says it's automated every time
